Introduction

The purposes of the performance evaluation process are (1) to promote communication and provide useful feedback about job performance, (2) to facilitate better working relationships, (3) to provide an historical record of performance and (4) to contribute to professional development. Continuous feedback of employee performance is an important aspect of the supervisor's job. By providing constructive feedback on a regular basis, the supervisor is giving the employee information about work performance and, if needed, allowing appropriate time to make corrections in performance and/or behavior. Regular feedback avoids “blindsiding” the employee at the annual evaluation time with an unsatisfactory review.

The philosophy behind the TEA's style of feedback and evaluation is that meeting once a year to discuss job performance doesn't provide enough true and productive discourse to effect on-going positive growth for the employee. Job performance reviews that are only done once a year are perfunctory and rarely yield anything other than stress, whereas on-going regular expectation meetings assist employees with knowing if they're on track allowing them not to be overly concerned that ONE annual evaluation is a make or break moment.

Preparing for Reviews

To facilitate communication, it is important that supervisors and employees prepare for the review session. There should be a clear understanding of the employee's responsibilities.

i. The job description, which interfaces with the evaluation form, should accurately reflect these responsibilities. The supervisor should review the employee's job description for accuracy. An updated job description should be submitted with the review form to Human Resources. A copy of an employee's job description can be requested from Human Resources.

ii. Plan the communication; prepare questions that will be asked and try to anticipate concerns.

iii. Begin on a positive note. Emphasize what is valued, liked and appreciated about the employee.

From there, move to discussing those areas that require improvement. Never criticize without making specific suggestions for improvement. It may be appropriate to work with Human Resources to develop a Performance Coaching Plan or formal Warning Notice if performance is far below expectations or has been deficient over a period of time.

While it is important to discuss past performance, significant time should be spent discussing the future – more effective ways to accomplish essential job functions and goals, and continued professional development. If the evaluation form is to provide an accurate track record of employee performance, changes in performance must be noted.
Peer or Co-worker Input
Prior to the supervisor completing the review, the supervisor may consult others who also have knowledge of the employee’s job performance because of interaction and collaboration. The employee may also complete their self-evaluation independently, prior to the scheduled session, from which to contribute to the process.

Schedule of Meetings

Using Outlook, meetings will be scheduled for one hour in length to provide ample time for discussion.

Within the first 90 Days

Tribal policy is that new employees are probationary for the first 90-days. How this works:

i. About six weeks on the job an Expectations Meeting is held to make sure everything is on track and if it isn’t, it gets corrected. This is a semi-formal check in and no forms are generated for Human Resources.

ii. At 90 days a probationary evaluation is done. This is a formal process using the Employee Evaluation Form which is turned into Human Resources.

At this time, it is decided to either maintain or terminate the working relationship. After 90 days, employees are allowed to use sick and vacation time, and receive health insurance benefits.

TEA Six Month Review

Tribal policy states at six months, benefitted employees are eligible for retirement matching up to 8% on their 401K. At six months a review is done to determine if job skills are growing and the position is a solid fit. This is a formal evaluation to determine if a salary increase\(^1\) is merited, or can be accommodated.

Tribal Policy Annual Evaluations

At one year, the mandatory evaluation per Tribal policy is done and submitted to HR. The formal Evaluation Form is used during this evaluation.

Employees with positive evaluations are made eligible for semi-annual bonuses/merit pay\(^2\) or a raise; it is typically one or the other, and is determined by the Tribal Administrator, CFO, and the Executive Director. Within six weeks, if it is a bonus or merit pay, a live check is cut for that.

\(^1\) Salary increases will depend on budget availability which can be more difficult to effect if the employee is split funded between Tribal funds and grant funds. A salary increase is not guaranteed. Grant funded staff must be made aware of Federal government budget allocations and their impacts on availability of funds or continuation of employment.

\(^2\) Semi-annual bonuses/merit pay schedule appears in the Tribal Employee Handbook and begins with 20 hours of bonus/merit pay for employees obtaining 1 yr., and increases with each year of employment. See schedule.
TEA Expectation Meetings Post Year 1

Quarterly, the employee meets with their direct supervisor to discuss the direction of work, job scope, improvement needs, training needs, etc. This is informal and no forms are filed with HR.

every six months we have a formal evaluation where an actual form is filled out and turned in for the employee's file. This is when we determine eligibility for bonus/merit pay, or if available, salary increases.

Timeframe for Student Interns and Temporary Employees

Student interns and Temporary Employees work between 10 to 29 hours per week. Due to this, the timeframe for Expectation Meetings is accelerated specifically for student interns based upon their total internship hours (200, 380, 560+). Within the first 40 to 100 hours of the internship, depending upon the total length of the internship, the 90-day Evaluation process will be completed and at this time, it is decided to either maintain or terminate the working relationship.

Goals Setting

Goal setting is an important part of the review process. Employees shall bring goals that they are currently working on or would like to set for themselves to each evaluation meeting. Employees should, at a minimum, have: (1) one work output/program related goal, and (2) one professional development related goal. Using SMART goal criteria will help in setting effective goals for the future.

S = Specific
M = Measurable
A = Attainable
R = Realistic
T = Time-bound

Specific: Goals must be clear and unambiguous. When goals are specific, they tell employees and supervisors exactly what is expected, when, and how much. Because the goals are specific, all parties can easily measure an employees' progress toward their completion.

Measurable: What good is a goal that can't be measured? If goals are not measurable, supervisors never know whether their employees are making progress toward their successful completion. Not only that, but it's tough for employees to stay motivated to complete their goals when they have no milestones to indicate their progress.

Attainable: Goals must be realistic and attainable by average employees. The best goals require employees to stretch a bit to achieve them, but they aren't extreme. That is, the goals are neither out of reach nor below standard performance. Goals that are set too high or too low become meaningless, and employees naturally come to ignore them.
Realistic: Realistic, in this case, means "do-able." It means that the learning curve is not a vertical slope; that the skills needed to do the work are available; that the project fits with the overall strategy and goals of the university. A realistic project may push the skills and knowledge of the people working on it but it shouldn't break them. Devise a plan or a way of getting there which makes the goal realistic. The goal needs to be realistic for where the employee is at the moment.

Time-bound: Goals must have starting points, ending points, and fixed durations. Commitment to deadlines helps employees to focus their efforts on completion of the goal on or before the due date. Goals without deadlines or schedules for completion tend to be overtaken by the day-to-day crises that invariably arise.

Avoiding Bias

Some of the following factors may bias performance reviews. It is important to keep these things in mind when preparing for and writing reviews so that each employee’s performance is assessed in an objective, consistent and accurate manner.

Halo Effect - all dimensions of performance are rated the same as a single dimension that happened to impress the supervisor either very favorably or unfavorably.

Overly Critical - when a supervisor sets unrealistically high standards, employees may conclude they will never measure up and stop trying.

Overly Lenient - the end result of being overly lenient is the same as being overly critical. If anything goes, why try harder?

Middle of the Road - some supervisors rate all employees within a limited range. Not everyone performs at the same level. Review forms should reflect differences in performance. Evaluations like this are confusing and resented. They prevent the open communication a review should foster.

Recent Performance Error - it is easiest to recall most recent performance. What the review should measure; however, is behavior over the entire span of the review period. Keeping documentation throughout the period and referring back to it will enhance the review and be more reflective of the employee’s overall performance.

Expectation & Evaluation Sessions

Adequate meeting time (with privacy and without interruptions) should be planned for the expectation meetings and reviewing the evaluation and to permit the employee to respond to the content of the Evaluation Form. At Expectation meetings, the supervisor will go over their expectations based upon the job description and the employee will establish their own expectations for work and communications.
At the Evaluation meeting, the supervisor will go over each section of the evaluation form, explaining the content described within the form in an effort to increase understanding between the supervisor and the employee regarding job performance.

Performance reviews are often one-sided, with the supervisor telling the employee what they think of the employee’s work. The BLR TEA believes this process should be an exchange of information and that each employee must be given a chance to discuss issues of concern. The employee must be allowed to state their side of a situation, and the supervisor is to remain objective and listen carefully to the employee’s statements to determine validity without becoming defensive.

Reviews provide excellent opportunities to discuss procedural and organizational issues that may affect employee performance. If improvement is needed in the employee’s performance, the supervisor needs to explain to the employee what requirements are not being met, and what remedial steps need to be taken for improvement, and the consequences if they fail to improve.

Employee Assistance Program

Balancing the demands between work and home has become a juggling act for many employees. Some problems are small and easy to resolve and others just seem too overwhelming to handle alone. Sometimes those problems and concerns begin to affect other aspects of the employee’s life; for example, jobs, family, or relationships. If an employee’s work performance is declining or is not meeting expectations, referral to the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) may be appropriate. The EAP can assist the employee with a variety of issues, including stress management, parenting skills, traits of a health family, coping with grief and loss and balancing the demands of work and home. Employees can contact the EAP at 800-235-3031 or 707-443-1303. This is provided through the Humboldt Independent Practice Association and is (a) Humboldt County based, (b) uses only local counselors and attorneys, and (c) refers only to local community based services. No one outside the EAP will know they are using the service unless they tell someone. Anything they discuss will remain confidential.

Finalizing the Formal Review

The employee and supervisor must sign and date the formal evaluation form completed by the supervisor. By signing the evaluation form, the employee acknowledges having read and discussed the report with the supervisor. It does not necessarily imply agreement with the supervisor’s evaluation of the employee. If an employee does not agree with any portion of the evaluation form, as completed by the supervisor, the employee may respond on the comments section.

Should an employee refuse to sign the performance review, the supervisor must document that fact on the evaluation and submit the review to Human Resources. The original, signed evaluation form should be submitted to Human Resources with the updated job description. A copy should be provided to the employee evaluated and the supervisor should retain a copy.
Develop On-Going Performance Communications

TEA leadership recognizes that performance management is a continuing process to assist employees in enhancing performance and development. On-going feedback should clarify expectations or standards, and perceived performance throughout the year, and bring to light issues that may contribute to or distract the employee from achieving optimal performance. Establishing milestones for periodic monitoring of performance goals and progress reports in objective terms will help keep an employee on target. If goals need to be changed, added or eliminated during the review period, take corrective action when necessary. It is important to maintain open communication channels throughout the year to ensure that issues are elevated quickly and resolved in a timely manner. If performance is not meeting expectations during the year, TEA supervisors will work with Human Resources to develop a plan to coach, assist, and/or re-direct the employee’s performance.

Dear Tribal Leader:

I hope that you have all had the opportunity to celebrate Native culture with loved ones yesterday.

This e-mail also serves to inform you about a special joint informational hearing the Assembly Select Committee on Native American Affairs and the Assembly Education Committee will conduct about California Native American curriculum and student success. The hearing is scheduled for Wednesday, October 27, 2021 at 9 a.m. in Room 4202 at the State Capitol. You will be able to watch the hearing at https://www.assembly.ca.gov/todaysevents. If you would like to testify, please contact my chief of staff, Adriana Ruelas at Adriana.Ruelas@asm.ca.gov. A draft agenda is attached.

I also want to thank you for all the support you have shown for the legislation I introduced this year. I am happy to report that my six tribal bills, and a desert conservation bill, AB 1183, were all signed by Gov. Gavin Newsom. The tribal package includes two pieces of legislation to aid tribal foster youth, the Serra/Northern California Native American monument bill, a measure creating the first paid California Native American Day holiday for state court personnel, a proposal to streamline tribal emergency response vehicle certification, and another measure to reinforce the right of high school students to wear tribal regalia at graduation ceremonies.

Once again, I thank you for your support and encourage you to watch the hearing. If you have suggestions for future legislation, please do not hesitate to contact me or reach out to Ms. Ruelas.

Sincerely,

James

2110 General Education Provisions Act (GEPA) Policy

The purpose of this policy is to comply with the requirements of the General Education Provisions Act (GEPA), Section 427, enacted as part of the Improving America’s Schools Act of 1994 (Public Law (P.L.) 103-382). The Blue Lake Rancheria Tribal Education Agency Board of Education will identify steps to ensure access to federally assisted programs have been provided as specified in the General Education Provisions Act (GEPA), Section 427 as Standard Operating Procedures under this policy.

Section 427 requires each applicant for funds (other than an individual person) to include in its application a description of the steps the applicant proposes to take to ensure equitable access to, and participation in, its Federally-assisted program for students, teachers, and other program beneficiaries with special needs. This provision allows applicants discretion in developing the required description. The statute highlights six types of barriers that can impede equitable access or participation: gender, race, national origin, color, disability, or age. Based on local circumstances, the applicant should determine whether these or other barriers may prevent students, teachers, etc., from such access or participation in the Federally-funded project or activity. The description in the application of steps to be taken to overcome these barriers need not be lengthy; the application may provide a clear and succinct description of how the applicant plans to address those barriers that are applicable to their circumstances. In addition, the information may be provided in a single narrative, or, if appropriate, may be discussed in connection with related topics in the application. Section 427 is not intended to duplicate the requirements of civil rights statutes, but rather to ensure that, in designing their projects, applicants for Federal funds address equity concerns that may affect the ability of certain potential beneficiaries to fully participate in the project and to achieve to high standards. Consistent with program requirements and its approved application, an applicant may use the Federal funds awarded to it eliminate barriers it identifies.

K12 SWP Project

Pathway Improvement Name: Humboldt CTE - Site-Based Career Guidance Technicians

Effective: 1/1/2022 – 6/30/2024

Problem Statement:

Humboldt County is made up of 135,000 people spread over 3,573 square miles and 31 school districts. Our districts range in size from 9 to 3,877 students. Low income, English learners, and Foster Youth make up 60% of Humboldt County students, 15.8% of 9-12 students qualify for special education services, 7.11% are homeless, and Humboldt County has California’s highest ACEs rate with 30.8% of adults reporting four or more ACEs vs 13% statewide. Humboldt has much lower college enrollment rates. In 2018, the CA average for high school students enrolling into college was 65.8%, but Humboldt County was only 54.3%. 22.2% went to an in-state 4-yr school, 68.7% went to Community College. In 2020 only 29.8% of Humboldt County students met the standard for California A-G admissions. This data is for ALL Humboldt county students, there is a distinct achievement gap when considering our high rate of special population students. The CTE pathways in Humboldt County Schools are open to these special populations who greatly benefit from the career guidance, skill building, work-based learning, and industry/post-secondary exposure that CTE pathways offer, but our CTE teachers and districts are taxed to be able to meet student need without additional support. The answer is to continue to the support of a site-based Career Guidance Technician at each partner high school to better focus on providing career and college guidance of these underrepresented populations, and enable district CTE programs to improve and expand on their CTE pathway completion rate, work-based learning opportunities, industry connections, and transition to post-secondary education or employment.

Our region has a shortage of workers, specifically in the healthcare and trades industries. This is backed up by the SWP NFN regional plan and Labor Market Information. For 2019-2024, the healthcare sector has a projected growth of 6% and the energy, construction, and utilities sector has a projected growth of 7%. The HCOE: Education at Work (Ed@Work) program was established in response to industry needs for skilled workers and school district needs for county office support in the improvement of CTE pathway completion and to better meet the elements of high quality CTE. The Ed@Work focus has been to target high growth areas of need, most notably in health careers (through our Health Career Exploration Project and Summer Institute) and construction trades / manufacturing (with our Trades Academy). Ed@Work has assigned an internship coordinator to further assist districts in finding/placing students in work-based learning with a specific focus on underrepresented populations. The goal of Ed@Work is to support all stakeholders by creating the bridge between the community, industry, post-secondary education, and the school districts, specifically enhancing the district CTE programs in their attainment of high quality CTE. Site based Career Guidance Technicians are the vehicles to get the students to cross that bridge to post-secondary training and/or employment.
Project Objectives

- Ensure equitable access for all students, with special attention to underrepresented/under-served populations by hiring and embedding a Career Guidance Technician (CGT) at every site to connect students with Ed@Work opportunities.
- Increase access for under-served students through focused outreach, improved CTE pathway planning, and extra support through individual mentoring by the CGT.
- Increase attainment of all CTE pathway HQ elements, with special attention to work-based learning, industry connections, higher education counseling, pathway completion, industry certifications, and leadership development through CTSOs.
- Expedite the process of career and post-secondary education planning by coordinating with College of the Redwoods (CR) Career Education department and participation in Ed@Work College Connect opportunities with facilitation by CGTs.
- Align work with Tribal partners such as Blue Lake Rancheria to coordinate, rather than duplicate, support to our Native population.
- Promote industry partner involvement aligned with regional workforce needs as identified in the NFN SWP regional plan. Strong focus on careers in health care and energy, construction, and utilities sectors which are projected areas of growth both regionally and locally.
- Continue to identify new employers and industry partners for work-based learning and mentoring experiences, with a primary focus on providing these opportunities to 11th/12th students identified as high need.

Notes from Alison:

Blue Lake Rancheria Tribal Education Agency is working towards the creation of Modern Youth Internship Academies (MYIA) open to all students with the concept that dual enrollment in CR course work combined with experiential learning opportunities starting first with “lab” classes where student glean the entry level skills needed for the next step into Internships with local businesses. Our six industry sectors we are including in the MYIA are:

1. Agriculture & Natural Resources (ANR)
2. Building & Construction Trades (BCT)
3. Energy, Environment, and Utilities (EEU)
4. Health Science and Medical Technology (HSMT)
5. Hospitality, Tourism and Recreation (HTR)
6. Manufacturing and Product Development (MPD)

A part of the MYIA will be the obtainment of industry specific National recognized certifications by graduates.

The Site based Career Guidance Technicians in this proposal would work seamlessly with this MYIA program concept as handling various scenarios/tasks could be facilitated by these technicians; a non-exhaustive list of examples could be:
• Assisting students with obtaining the necessary paperwork for legal employment – the documents listed on the I-9 form, a bank account for direct deposit payrolls, student work permits

• Assisting students with clean virtual hygiene – setting up appropriate professional email addresses, making appropriate virtual connections through websites like LinkedIn, etc. and removing potentially harmful things from their social media

• Assisting students with preparing resumes, writing letters of interest, preparing for interviews (mock interviews), asking questions at interviews, and following up with potential employers – NOTE: this could be called “Expected Job Search Business Etiquette” which would include appropriate interview attire. NOTE2: This also ties into BLR’s push to start a Communities in School closet at each high school site which contains donated “professional” or worksite clothing for students to interview in and work in – office clothing, and initial worksite clothing help. Point is to remove barriers from success, so if clothing is holding the student back from getting that job – they don’t have a pair of black pants and shoes for wear to the worksite, or don’t have hard soled shoes, etc. This is what the Communities in Schools closet would provide. The Technicians could work with the community to solicit assistance matching children with sponsors, perhaps, or just seeking donations of gently used clothing.

• Assisting students with obtaining program specific goals – such as assisting students with signing up for and taking the various Nationally recognized certification tests (researching and assisting with paperwork, test scheduling, etc.); assisting students with finding and accessing appropriate services such as transportation to and from work or study groups or tutoring to stay on top of academics; scheduling field trips to college campuses, or various industry specific work sites; facilitating career connections with potential mentors in their interested field; facilitating connections to various community industry trade or interest groups (Zero Waste Humboldt; Redwood Coast Energy Authority; etc.)

BLR TEA has a STEP grant for the next two years, and CRC’s salary is dedicated to the establishment of the MYIA concept. She is also recruiting Native American persons that would like to be CTE teachers so we can diversify the teaching pool. The whole grant comprises the CRC’s salary and the contracts with HCOE, CR, and NHUHSD. So, here is what you can use towards this:

10/01/2021 – 09/30/2022
Salary $55,417
Fringe $23,017
Contract with HCOE $2250
STEP Grant Total: $80,684

10/01/2022 – 09/30/2023
Salary $57,668
Fringe $23,899
Contract with HCOE $1125
STEP Grant Total: $82,692
BLR has a NACTEP grant and included in that are Teacher Externships: $6000 a year for 2 teacher externships, each year for five years starting 10/01/2021 = so that's $30,000 for teacher externships for MYIA CTE teachers from NHUHSD and ECS.

If we get the grant I just applied for, we'll have $124K towards teachers for MYIA. I will attach that budget so you can see what we have planned.
